

Ways in which local content reaches policy makers throughout the information chain

Sara Gwynn and Pippa Smart, INASP
ODI-INASP Symposium
Friday 17 November:
Short Summary

Workshop 3

Overview

This workshop will provide a forum to discuss local content management and how its influence on policy can be enhanced. Through group discussions, participants will exchange experiences with the objective of suggesting a number of recommendations on how local content management can be improved to ensure higher influence on policy.

At the end of this workshop participants will:

- have a better understanding of how content is managed within other institutions and countries;
- have identified different tools and methodologies for improving content management and promotion;
- have identified a number of recommendations for improving content management and influence.

Process

There will be a short presentation followed by group discussions and feedback. The session is being facilitated by INASP (Sara Gwynn and Pippa Smart).

Preparatory work by participants

Participants are encouraged to consider how their own institution(s) manage local research content, and what initiatives and tools they have experience and knowledge of.